OUR COMPANY

The history of CASE dates back to 1842, when inventor and entrepreneur Jerome Increase Case founded the Racine Threshing Machine Works in Illinois, USA. It was the beginning of an exciting journey of entrepreneurship, ingenuity and continuous development of practical solutions to the challenges of construction jobsites.

Today, CASE serves its customers with products manufactured at its factories based in: the USA, Brazil, Italy, India and Mexico. Its plants operate to World Class Manufacturing (WCM) standards, which set a road map to continuous improvement through the elimination of waste, leading to efficient management of the facility and reduced environmental impact. All of the CASE facilities have achieved WCM Bronze or Silver level delivering consistent high-quality products.

The widespread dealer network means that CASE dealers are always close to the customers, serving them with the world-class equipment produced at these plants and professional after-sales support with industry-leading warranties and flexible financing.

CASE Construction Equipment sells and supports a full line of construction equipment around the world. Through CASE dealers, customers have access to a true professional partner with world-class equipment and aftermarket support, industry-leading warranties and flexible financing.
